Dear Scott, Weber 6/25/94

Thanks for the Newsday article. I xx did not have a copy. Had heard of it.

In your OK prologue, David Belin is one you forgot in saying all were not like Posner's book. If you did not say it, it can be taken that way.

Not only was Humes not disciplined- he was promoted to captain. That is like colonel in the Army.

Verily, virtue is its own reward!

I knew of a set of black and white autopsy pictures other than the official set but did not know of any color pictures. From the original negatives, the color set was printed at the Navy lab. The Secret Service could and did process the black-and-whites.

Unless there were other negatives, I doubt this has any real significance or can add to what we know.

Busy day. Excuse the haste. Best wishes,

Harold
